

The getting ready portion of a wedding day offers some of the most candid, unposed moments of the entire event, and Annie Paige Photography wedding photography in Portland arrives early specifically to capture it. Details like the dress, rings, and small moments among the bridal party often become some of the most cherished images in the final gallery. Arriving one to one and a half hours before the first scheduled event ensures nothing from this part of the day gets missed.

Annie Paige Photography | 59 State St, Portland, ME 04101 | (207) 841-4333

This early arrival has become standard practice across more than one hundred weddings photographed. Call (207) 841-4333 to build getting ready photography into your timeline.