

Moving heavy furniture through hallways and doorways carries a real risk of scratched floors and damaged walls if not handled carefully. Experienced DMV movers use specific techniques and equipment to protect a home throughout the moving process. Bulldog Movers DMV shares these prevention methods here.

Floor Protection Techniques from a DMV Moving Company

A DMV moving company protects hardwood and tile floors using furniture sliders placed under heavy pieces, allowing them to glide across the floor rather than being dragged. Runner mats or moving blankets laid down along the main path also protect flooring from scuffs caused by repeated foot traffic during loading and unloading.

Corner and Wall Protection Used by DMV Movers

DMV movers pad doorframes and corners with moving blankets or foam corner guards in areas where furniture needs to turn tight angles. This padding absorbs impact if a piece of furniture brushes against a wall or doorframe while being carried through a hallway.

- Furniture sliders to move heavy pieces without dragging
- Runner mats or blankets along main walking paths
- Foam corner guards on doorframes and tight turns
- Careful furniture disassembly to reduce size where possible
- Clear communication between crew members during tight maneuvers

Team Communication from Movers in DMV

Movers in DMV communities rely on clear communication between crew members when carrying furniture through narrow spaces, with one person often guiding from the front to call out obstacles or tight turns. This coordination reduces the chance of sudden shifts that could scrape a wall or floor.

Bulldog Movers Services That Protect Your Home

Bulldog Movers offers local moving with trained crews who use proper protective equipment, along with labor only moving for households that need extra hands for heavy furniture without a full-service move.

Protecting floors and walls during a move comes down to the right equipment and careful technique. Bulldog Movers DMV takes these precautions on every job to keep Continue reading homes in the same condition they started in. Visit Bulldog Movers to schedule a move that protects your home throughout the process.